Writing for Emerald

Being published means you can write:
- An article in a journal
- A chapter in a book series
- A case study
- A new journal
- A new book or new book series

Where to start:
- Individual journal home page
- Call for papers (special issues): http://www.emeraldgrouppublishing.com/authors/writing/calls.htm
Step 1: Choose your journal
- the editorial aims of the journal
- what type of articles are accepted
- impact factor (if applicable).

Step 2: Send any questions to the right person
- Go to Editorial link page on the journal.
- The Content Editor will be able to answer your questions regarding getting your paper published, e.g. time to publication, time to review, using Manuscript Central to submit and track the progress of your paper.
- The Publisher will be able to answer your questions regarding the journal's vision, scope and quality indices, e.g. impact factor, where the journal is abstracted and indexed scope and objectives of the journal.

Step 3: Submit your article
- Every journal has different guidelines
- Every journal homepage has a link to "Author Guidelines".
- Match requirements!
What can you expect as an Emerald Author

Emerald makes the following promises to its community of over 130,000 authors:

- Journal author – three months' access to all Emerald journals with max 40 downloads (same access granted to journal reviewers).
- Book chapter author – three months' access to all Emerald book series with max 40 downloads (same access granted to book series reviewers).
- Case Study author – three months' access to all EEMCS journals with max 10 downloads (same access granted to case study reviewers).
- Provision of author proofs prior to publication in print and online.
- A complimentary copy of the book in which your article or chapter appeared.
- To disseminate your work as quickly as possible: EarlyCite
- To host and promote a video abstract of your work if you provide us with one.
- To ensure that your work has all the necessary metadata to ensure it can be easily discovered by all relevant search engines, including Google Scholar.
What can you expect as an Emerald author

- To protect the scholarly integrity of your work by assuring that the definitive and citable version is permanently accessible: we work with organizations such as LOCKSS and Portico, use CrossRef's DOI system, and deposit your work, as required, in any national archive deriving from the Legal Deposit Libraries Act 2003.

- A huge range of services and resources to help your academic and professional development and help you increase dissemination of your work.

- An efficient and transparent submission system: ScholarOne Manuscripts™, as used by the majority of Emerald journals, allows you to track your journal paper through the peer-review process.

- To allow easy, accurate citation of your work: anyone can import Emerald articles straight into EndNote and Reference Manager, and the RefWorks online service.

- Prompt notification of publication details: we will confirm online publication of your article or chapter within five working days.

- Updates from Emerald regarding key changes to the availability, downloads or citations of your work.

- Updates on innovations and developments both at Emerald and throughout the publishing world that affect how your work can be disseminated.

- Your say in how we work as a publisher: all journal authors are asked to provide feedback and recommendations immediately following publication, and you will be updated annually on what changes we have made based on your recommendations.
Publish a Chapter in a Book Series

- Step 1: Choose your series
  - the editorial aims of the journal
  - what type of articles are accepted
  - impact factor (if applicable).

- Step 2: Send an abstract
  - Email Editor to discuss suitability of chapter

- Step 3: Prepare your chapter
  - How to prepare your work for publication:
  - How to write a book chapter:
Publish a Case Study

- 5 Steps to Case Writing
  1. Set Teaching Objective
  2. Identify Case Lead
  3. Collect information on case through documents / interviews
  4. Write case and get permission to publish
  5. Write Teaching Note and try the case in class

How to select the right journal?
How to select the right journal?

Why do you want to publish your work?

- Improving career prospects
- Raising my profile
- Influencing key policies/decisions
- ...???
How to select the right journal?

Factors to consider:

- Type of paper i.e. practice paper, research paper, case study, review, viewpoint?
- Readership?
- Communicative? Emerging? Community-based?
- Bibliometrics – favourable citation patterns?
- Be political (e.g. national vs. international) and strategic (e.g. five articles in ‘low ranked’ journals vs. one in ‘top ranked’ journal)
  - likelihood of acceptance?
  - ABS-ranked journal?
Structuring your paper
What makes a good paper? HINT: Editors and reviewers look for

- Originality – what’s new about subject, treatment or results?
- Relevance to and extension of existing knowledge
- Recency and relevance of references
- Research methodology – are conclusions valid and objective?
- Clarity, structure and quality of writing – does it communicate well?
- Sound, logical progression of argument
- Theoretical and practical implications (the ‘so what?’ factors!)
- Internationality/Global focus
- Adherence to the editorial scope and objectives of the journal

A good title, keywords and a well written abstract.

Structuring your paper

Titles

“Good titles are key to getting cited more frequently”
Maximising the impact of your research, chapter 4

A good title should contain the fewest possible words that adequately describe the contents of a paper

(A) A phrase that introduces the paper and catches the reader’s eye

(B) Keywords that identify focus of the work

(C) The "location" where those keywords will be explored

http://writing.markfullmer.com/academic-style-titles
Structuring your paper

Keywords

- Researchers search using key phrases. What would you search for?

- Look at the keywords of articles relevant to your manuscript – do they give good results?

- Be descriptive – topic, sub discipline, methodology and significant features

- Jargon

- Repeat appropriately (abstract/title)
Structuring your paper

Introduction

Convince readers that you know why your work is relevant and answer questions they might have:

- What is the problem?
- Are there any existing solutions?
- Which one is the best?
- What is its main limitation?
- What do you hope to achieve?
Structuring your paper

Literature review

- Quote from previous research
- What are you adding? Make it clear
- Use recent work to cite
- Self citing – only when relevant
- Any work that is not your own MUST be referenced
- If you use your own previously published work it MUST be referenced

http://www.emeraldinsight.com/authors/guides/write/literature.htm
Structuring your paper

Method

- indicate the main methods used
- demonstrate that the methodology was robust, and appropriate to the objectives.
- Focus on telling the main story, stating the main stages of your research, the methods used, the influences that determined your approach, why you chose particular samples, etc. Additional detail can be given in Appendices.
Structuring your paper

Results

✓ Main facts

✓ Significant results

✓ Be objective

✓ Figures and tables
Structuring your paper

Discussion

Consider:
- Do you provide interpretation for each of your results presented?
- Are your results consistent with what other investigators have reported? Or are there any differences? Why?
- Are there any limitations?
- Does the discussion logically lead to your conclusion?

Do not
- Make statements that go beyond what the results can support
- Suddenly introduce new terms or ideas
Structuring your paper

Conclusion

- Present global and specific conclusions
- Indicate uses and extensions
- Answer the original question
- Apply to theory and practice
- State limitations

- Summarise the paper – the abstract is for this
- Start a new topic/introduce new material
- Make obvious statements
- Contradict yourself
The publishing process and surviving peer review
The Publishing Cycle

Author
- Pre-submission work – selecting journals, registering for ScholarOne manuscripts (online submission system), checking author guidelines
- Includes Editors, editorial assistants, Editorial Board members and reviewers
- Solicits new papers
- Manages review processes
- Promotes journal to peers
- Attends conferences
- Develops new areas of coverage

Users
- Access via library
- Hardcopy
- Database
- Third party licences

Editorial
- Publisher dissemination: hosting content and ensuring security of future access through LOCKSS and Portico, sales, marketing and events
- Author dissemination: voluntary deposit of author's own accepted version in institutional repository, blogging and conferences

Dissemination
- The link between the publishing company and editor
- Helps editors succeed in their role and build a first class journal
- Overall responsibility for journal
- Promotion and marketing
- Attends conferences
- Handles production issues

Production
- Maintenance of institutional repository
- Rights clearance
- Quality Assurance, sub-editing and proof reading
- Convert to SGML for online databases
- Print production
- Despatch
Surviving peer review

“Many papers are rejected simply because they don’t fulfil journal requirements. They don’t even go into the review process.”

- Identify a few possible target journals/series but be realistic
- Follow the Author Guidelines – scope, type of paper, word length, references style, etc
- Find out where to send your paper (editor, online submission e.g. Scholar One). Check author guidelines which can be found in a copy of the journal/series or the publisher’s web site
- Send an outline or abstract and ask if this looks suitable and interesting (or how it could be made so)
- Read at least one issue of the publication – visit your library for access
- Include a cover letter – opportunity to speak directly to the editor, convince them of the importance of your manuscript to the journal
Surviving peer review

Reasons for rejections

- Not following instructions – author guidelines
- Inappropriate to the journal scope
- Problem with quality (inappropriate methodology, not reasonably rigorous)
- Insufficient contribution to the field
Typical criticisms (journal dependent)

- Paper motivation is weak
  - is there really a gap in our understanding? Did it need filling?
- Theory development is weak
  - theory by assertion, or reinvention of existing theory
- Empirical work is weak
  - methodology not plausible, tests don’t rule out alternative hypotheses
- ‘So what’?
  - nothing wrong with the paper – but nothing very insightful either
  - only incremental research, doesn’t affect an existing paradigm
Surviving peer review

Don’t give up! Everybody has been rejected at least once.

Ask and listen most editors give detailed comments about a rejected paper.

Try to improve and re-submit.
Do your homework and target your paper as closely as possible.
Surviving peer review

Revision tips

✓ Acknowledge the editor and set a revision deadline
✓ If you disagree, explain why to the editor
✓ Clarify understanding if in doubt
✓ Consult with colleagues or co-authors
✓ Meet the revision deadline
✓ Attach a covering letter which identifies, point by point, how revision requests have been met (or if not, why not)
Publication ethics
Publication ethics

Don’t submit to more than one journal at once
Don’t self-plagiarise
Clear permission to publish interviews/case studies
Seek agreement between authors
Disclose any conflict of interest
Authors and editors are supported by the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE)
Publication ethics

Plagiarism

- The act of taking someone else’s work and passing it off as your own (false attribution). It is considered fraud!
- Hard to detect with peer review but there are new tools to help us
- Emerald’s entire portfolio is included in iThenticate web-based software from iParadigms http://www.ithenticate.com/
- Emerald’s Plagiarism Policy can be seen at http://www.emeraldinsight.com/about/policies/plagiarism.htm
- For more general information visit http://www.plagiarism.org/
Publication ethics

Copyright

- As the author, you need to ensure that you get permission to use content you have not created, to avoid delays, this should be done before you submit your work.

- Supply written confirmation from the copyright holder when submitting your manuscript.

- If permission cannot be cleared, we cannot republish that specific content.

More information including a permissions checklist and a permissions request form is available at:

http://www.emeraldinsight.com/authors/writing/best_practice_guide.htm

Beyond authorship

Other important publishing work that you might wish to get involved in include:

- Conference papers
- Refereeing/ad hoc reviews
- Case studies
- Editorial advisory board membership
- Regional editorship
